

DELAY CLAIMS

Pacific Property Consultants is experienced with providing accurate information related to a project delay, abandonment or contract dispute where construction is slowed or halted as a result. A site inspection as soon as a delay occurs is very important to document the actual percentage of construction and the materials that are in storage at the site.

When a project is abandoned, getting your consultant to the site as quickly as possible is critical, since the longer a project is exposed the greater the losses. Pacific Property Consultants provides rapid response to insurance providers, building owners and financial institutions to quickly assess and mitigate any potential losses.
